New comic

Get ready to laugh

Check out the adventures of Detective Boogaloo in Metro's new comic, "Hip-Hop Cop," from award-winning Philadelphia artist Jamar Nicholas. It's the story of a break-dancing cop, superpowers and evil rappers who must be vanquished. Nicholas is the host of the podcast "Comic Book Diner," and his adaptation of "Fist Stick Knife Gun," a memoir about young adult violence, is taught in schools across the nation.

Mothers of men killed by cops rally for justice

Calling for justice. The state attorney general is expected to be tasked with probing cases of suspected police abuse going forward.

Nearly a year after the death of Eric Garner, and just hours before Gov. Andrew Cuomo was expected to announce an executive order appointing a special prosecutor to investigate police-involved deaths, mothers of men killed by police officers rallied outside the governor's midtown office to hold him to his promises.

"It's not for our families, but for future families," said Gwen Carr, the mother of Eric Garner, the Staten Island man who was killed after being put in a chokehold by a police officer last July. "If we had a special prosecutor at the time of my son's death, I think it would have made a tremendous difference, but now we're asking for a special prosecutor for other families."

Last month, Cuomo appointed State Attorney General Eric Schneiderman as the special prosecutor tasked with investigating incidents of police officers killing civilians for a one-year term. In April, Cuomo met with Carr, and other surviving family members of people killed by police officers, including Constance Malcolm. Malcolm's son, Ramarley Graham, 18, was fatally shot inside his Bronx home in 2012 after being chased in by an NYPD officer.

president of the Brooklyn NAACP

The families want Cuomo to appoint a special prosecutor to investigate instances of when armed and unarmed civilians are killed, and keep the prosecutor in place longer than a year.

"He has promised us [the executive order] … we hope he is the upstanding person we feel he is," Carr said.

As of deadline, Cuomo had not formally announced the order.

In an op-ed published in the Daily News on Monday, Carr and Malcolm wrote that Cuomo had started to "backtrack in his public comments about what the special prosecutor will cover and the length of time it will exist," which is "inconsistent with commitment Cuomo made to us."

"This is a decades problem … a problem across the country that can't be solved in one year," said L. Joy Williams, president of the Brooklyn NAACP, said at Tuesday's rally.

"We definitely applaud the governor, because no governor has ever done this before," Carr said, adding she thought the April meeting was positive and had a great influence on Cuomo's move to issue the order.

The first anniversary of Garner's death is next Friday, July 17.

Verbal consent. Gov. Cuomo signs 'yes means yes' law

Gov. Andrew Cuomo signed a law on Tuesday that will require all college students to verbally consent to sexual acts on all campuses, public and private, across the state.

"I'm not going to let the schools cover it up anymore to protect their reputation," Cuomo said, speaking at the New York University School of Law. "When New York does something, people notice. And we have always been the progressive capital."

The bill, which the legislature passed last month, also creates a survivor bill of rights, amnesty against drug and alcohol policies for students who report sexual assaults and increased training for campus police and staff.

Lt. Gov. Kathy Hochul told Metro last month that the bill would be the strictest college sexual assault policy in the country.

"The culture right now has gotta change," Hochul said. "We have to let men know the first day they step on campus that if they cross the line, against a man or a woman, there are going to be consequences, right from orientation on, we have to let the young people know victims that they have rights and the campus will take care of them."

SUNY schools adopted a universal sexual assault policy last fall, and Hochul said she's already seen changes in campus culture.

Paintball attacks target Hasidic community

Williamsburg. Police are looking for information in possible bias attacks.

Police are investigating possible bias crimes in Williamsburg, where several Hasidic Jews have been targeted by paintball attacks.

On June 29, Chaim Klein, a 62-year-old Hasidic Jewish man, was the most recent victim. He was hit with paintballs around 1:45 a.m. on Lee Avenue, near Bonda's 24-Hour supermarket. Klein works at Grill on Lee, a restaurant just a few blocks away.

"I go home at 2 a.m. because I work late," said Klein, "Then boom! I felt like someone shot me."

Klein said he almost fell down, and felt his blood pressure jump up. He heard screaming, and saw a black car speeding away. He then called a Jewish ambulance.

Solomon Bonda, the owner of Bonda's, was disturbed by the incident. Police confirmed it is one of five such attacks since they began in March.

"This place was considered a safe neighborhood," said Bonda, "But things like this make people a little edgy and nervous."

The same day, another Hasidic Jewish man was struck on the head with a bottle not far away on Driggs Avenue at 1 a.m., reported Pix11.

Many in the Hasidic community declined to discuss the incidents. Yitchok F, a cashier at a nearby grocery story who did not want to give his full name, had not heard of the paintball incidents or the bottle attack.

He said in his years of living in the neighborhood, he has never experienced any similar problems.

However, one Hasidic woman out with her three children who declined to give her name said that although she hadn't heard about the incidents, "I try to not go out late at night, because you don't know the things people could do."

For Klein, the attack was not just painful, but shocking.

"We are not in Afghanistan," he said, "We are in New York."

As noted by the New York Post, a $2,500 reward is being offered by the police for information about the attacks.

Shake Shack's new chicken sandwich comes with caveats

Food. The ChickenShack is Shake Shack's entry into what's becoming the food of summer. But there are a few things you should know.

Shake Shack's new chicken sandwich / PROVIDED

After Fuku threw down the fast-casual chicken sandwich gauntlet last month, it was only a matter of time before the restaurant that owns NYC's fast-casual burger market responded.

Yes, Shake Shack finally began serving a fried chicken sandwich today.

The ChickenShack sandwich ($6.29) seems to follow the same model that worked for Shake Shack's burger: make the best version of a classic. The fried chicken is accompanied by just lettuce, pickles and a buttermilk herb mayo.

The type of bun didn't rate a mention, and neither did the spice level of the breading, but the humble magic of Shake Shack's burger is that there is nothing about it that would perk a foodie's interest — until they taste it.

A couple of things, though.

To taste the ChickenShack sandwich, you have to head south — It's only available at Shake Shack's three Brooklyn locations.

Now, the restaurant's CEO, Danny Meyer, is worth upward of $600 million after the restaurant chain went public earlier this year, so he probably doesn't ride the subway. But a few million of us do, and we can only spend so many sweaty afternoons on the Jay Street platform, watching A trains go by for 30 minutes and bargaining futilely with an uncaring god for an F train.

But perhaps the yuppies of the Upper East Side suffered enough with Shack's attempt at hand-cut fries, so it was the hipsters' turn on the food science hamster wheel.

The sandwich is also only available "for a limited time." Will it abandon us like Danny Zuko when the weather gets colder?

Lastly, you can't get the ChickenShack with an affogato. A Shake Shack in Philadelphia just partnered with its neighbor, an indie coffee shop, for a DIY "ice coffee." If only our ChickenShacks wouldn't be cold and soggy by the time the train pulled in, we'd make it our weekend foodie field trip.

Midtown. Manhole fire mayhem

Several buildings lost power in Midtown on Tuesday after a fire erupted at a manhole on 37th Street, NBC New York reported.

The eruption sent thick black smoke into the air. The fire burned for several hours before authorities got it under control.

There were no injuries reported and no evacuations were ordered. Bystanders were escorted to safety by firefighters and police officers.

Both authorities and Con Edison crews responded to the manhole fire. The cause is still unknown.

A section of 37th Street was shut down for further investigation.

Twitter user Michael Hussey posted a video of the eruption.

Man charged with slashing fire hose during Baltimore riot arraigned

A Baltimore man allegedly filmed slashing a fire hose at a burning pharmacy during April rioting over the death of Freddie Gray was arraigned on Tuesday.

A jury trial for Greg Butler Jr., 22, who is also known as Greg Bailey, has been scheduled for Aug. 14 in Baltimore City Circuit Court, court documents show.

Butler was allegedly caught on video puncturing a hose as firefighters battled a blaze on April 27, at a CVS Health Corp. pharmacy.

The store was torched during unrest after the funeral of Gray, a 25-year-old black man who died from an injury suffered in police custody.

FBI seeks victims in sextortion

GRAPHIC BY BILLY BECERRA, METRO

How the sextortion happens

1 Chansler pretends be a 15-year-old boy, to strike up conversation with teenage girls in chat rooms.

2 The girls expose themselves in a video chat, not realizing that he is doing a screen capture.

3 He then uses the screen-capture images to blackmail the teens into giving him more naked poses.

Investigation. Federal agents want help in IDing victims.

A Florida man has been sentenced to more than 100 years behind bars for masterminding a sextortion scheme that targeted hundreds of teen girls across the United States, including four victims in Massachusetts.

Now the FBI is asking the public's help identifying additional victims of convicted online predator Lucas Michael Chansler, 31, of St. Johns, Florida.

Federal investigators said Chansler earned himself a 105-year stay in federal prison for engaging in an extortion plot to produce underage porn. Court testimony indicates that he targeted about 350 minors in 26 states. So far, 109 victims have been identified.

Documents show that from 2007 to Jan. 8, 2010, Chansler threatened hundreds of teenage girls with the intent of extorting the photos and webcam videos of sexually exploitative material. He would engage the girls online, pretending to be a friend, acquaintance or an admirer of the victims, investigators said. Their ages ranged from 13 to 18. Chansler told authorities that he targeted minors because adults were "too smart" to fall for his act.

After gaining the victim's trust, Chansler would convince them to expose themselves and secretly recorded the video session, the FBI said. Chansler often enticed his victims to expose themselves by showing a streaming video of a minor male exposing himself or engaging in sexually explicit behavior. If a victim did expose herself, he recorded it, and then demanded additional and more graphic images or webcam videos. He would tell the victim that if she did not comply, he would distribute the images and videos online, or send them to her family and friends.

So far, authorities have identified 109 victims, but they need help finding the rest. Investigators have a list of 135 screen names from Myspace, Stickham` and AIM. NATE HOMAN, METRO

4 things you need to know

1 Two killed when F-16 collides with small plane over SC

A U.S. military fighter jet and a small plane collided over South Carolina on Tuesday, authorities said, killing two aboard the private plane while the military pilot ejected safely.

The collision involved an F-16 fighter aircraft and a Cessna C-150, the Federal Aviation Administration said in a statement. The agency said the crash occurred at around 11 a.m. north of Charleston.

The two people aboard the Cessna were both killed, a spokesman for the National Transportation Safety Board said. The agency is investigating the crash.

The pilot of the military aircraft ejected safely and was taken for a health evaluation, according to a statement from Shaw Air Force Base in South Carolina, where the F-16 was based.

"From what I understand from a witness, the military plane struck the other, small aircraft broadside," Bill Salisbury, the Berkeley County coroner as well as the chief of the volunteer rescue squad, said at a press conference.

The crash occurred over Moncks Corner, according to the NTSB.

Debris from the small plane had been found scattered over a wide area, including in a rice field, local authorities said. REUTERS

2 US concerned over detention of 100 activists in Cuba

The State Department raised concern about the detentions of about 100 peaceful activists in Cuba this week, but said it would not slow the restoration of diplomatic relations.

The State Department had seen reports about the beating and detention of political activist Antonio Rodiles in Cuba and U.S. interests there had confirmed the detentions of almost 100 activists on Sunday, spokesman John Kirby said.

"Certainly, it's concerning to us," Kirby said. "We're always going to be very vocal and very candid about human rights concerns wherever we see them." REUTERS

3 Facebook to build new data center in Fort Worth, Texas

Facebook announced plans on Tuesday to build a new data center in Fort Worth, Texas, its fourth in the U.S. and fifth overall.

Facebook will invest at least $500 million in the global data center, a spokesperson said, and will hire at least 40 full-time employees. The center will also be powered entirely by renewable energy, Tom Furlong, Facebook's vice president of infrastructure, wrote in a blog post.

As part of the deal, the 1.4 billion-user social network brought 200 megawatts of new wind energy to Texas, Furlong wrote. REUTERS

4 Army to cut 40,000 troops over next two years

The U.S. Army plans to cut 40,000 troops over the next two years, affecting all its domestic and foreign posts, USA Today reported on Tuesday, citing a plan it said was due to be announced this week.

It said the plan also called for cutting up to 17,000 civilian employees. REUTERS

"Fraction Of An Inch" Success And Failure With Popular

Vital Information All Knee Arthritis Sufferers

By Matt Edgar-Health Writer
Manhattan - In just a moment I'm going to tell you about a very "candid" and somewhat embarrassing moment I had with a doctor.

A moment most doctors would not want you to know about.

As I reveal what happened in that moment - it will become clear to you not only why this doctor has so much success treating knee arthritis pain... but you will also discover a possible way to relieve some or all of your pain, too.

But before I tell you all that - let me ask you this: How would you like to finally have a real medical solution for your knee arthritis pain?

Not some scam sold on an infomercial or the internet. A real medical treatment that has already worked for countless people just like you and is covered by most insurance and medicare?

Can you imagine what it would feel like to be able to eliminate enough of your pain and stiffness so you can get out of bed without pain and go for walks and even do things like play golf or tennis?

How relieved would you be if you felt so much better that you no longer needed to go through total knee replacement surgery and all the grueling rehabilitation?

Sounds Too Good To Be True?

I'm glad we agree. It does sound too good to be true. That's because all patients react differently and get different results from real medical treatments.

That's also why no ethical doctor would promise or guarantee ANY results... for ANY treatment. EVER.

In fact - if you do start hearing over-the-top, exaggerated claims like: "cure for knee arthritis" or "eliminates all pain" or "works for everyone" you should run like heck.

But the fact of the matter is: If you qualify for the treatment you are about to discover, there is a good chance you may be able to relieve some or much of your pain.

I know because thousands of knee arthritis sufferers... just like you... have already found the relief you are looking for.

And even better - this might work for you if your pain is new... or if you have advanced knee arthritis that has made it difficult to even walk.

Here's The Treatment And The Embarrassing Moment

The treatment is called viscosupplemtation. If you have not heard of this treatment - I will explain how it might help you in just a moment. If you have heard of it - or even had this treatment without good results - this information is a "must read."

Here is why: When you have arthritis, one of the things that happens is the lubricating fluid in your joints deceases. This causes joint surfaces to rub, then grind against each other which causes swelling and pain eventually eating way at the cartilage.

Researchers have developed a natural lubricating gel that can be placed in the arthritic knee joint - this cushions and coats the joint allowing it to glide more smoothly which often decreases pain. Sometimes dramatically . Treatment with this special lubricating gel is called Viscosupplementation.

Advanced Knee Arthritis Treatment Offers New Hope For Pain Sufferers In New York City

Nothing Spreads The Word Like Caring Doctors and Results - Knee arthritis sufferers have swarmed the OsteoRelief Center in Manhattan, NYC and Norhtern New j Jersey ever since word got out of their advanced medical procedure for knee arthritis

This all sounds great - in theory. But there is a BIG problem with this treatment.

Allow Me To Explain...

While doing research on this treatment, I traveled to a medical clinic in Northern N.J. right outside NYC (they now have clinics in mid town and downtown).. This clinic had an excellent reputation and I got to speak not only with doctors but with several patients who ranted and raved about the results.

Many said they had tried countless other treatments in the past... including viscosupplementation... but nothing worked until they had viscosupplemtation at this clinic.

I was skeptical, so I asked one of the doctors why. How could it be possible that the same treatment that did not work when done elsewhere... was getting results when done here?

His response was honest and a little shocking. And the bottom line was...

"All Doctors Are Human And Sometimes They Mess Up"

I discovered that this treatment must be VERY PRECISE. In other words, the doctor must be very accurate and actually get the lubricating fluid precisely into the arthritic joint space - or the treatment will be rendered useless.

Many doctors do not want to admit it - but it is very easy to miss the joint space and alter the treatment results.

In fact, research shows that doctors doing these types of joint procedures without advanced imaging may miss the joint space as much as 30% of the time.

Technology To The Rescue

Thankfully technology is solving this problem. How? It's making doctors much more accurate and this treatment much more effective.

Advanced imaging is now available that allows doctors to actually see directly into the joint space and watch the treatment. Doctors can see, or check, if the lubricating fluid goes directly into the joint space - or misses.

The doctor knows if the applied treatment has been a success... or failure... INSTANTLY.

The Difference Between Knee Arthritis Treatment?

Should Know... That Might Be Keeping You In Pain

Here's something incredible: I was able to watch many procedures actually being performed and I was shocked at how many times the doctor thought he had perfect placement... but the imaging proved him wrong.

I was amazed how only a fraction of an inch would make the difference between success and failure.

The best thing is: When the procedure was not perfect - because of the imaging - the doctor knew instantly and was able to make the slight change necessary and achieve the results they were looking for hitting the targeted painful knee joint.

"Double Confirmation" For Best Results

That's why the doctors at this clinic have taken it one giant step further to give their patients the best. They do not just use one form of confirmation during treatment - they use two in their "double confirmation" process. This is to ensure patients get the best possible results.

It became clear to me that using this advanced imaging and "double confirmation" process just might be why the doctors at this medical clinic get results when others were not.

What Results Can Be Expected?

Like all medical treatments, the results vary and can not be predicted. But many knee arthritis sufferers get dramatic results. It is not uncommon for patients to either postpone knee replacement surgery for years... or even permanently cancel it.

Who Is This For?

This treatment is not for everyone - but if you qualify you may be able to relieve some or all of your pain. That's why OsteoRelief has a an innovation for you...

Your Invitation

OsteoRelief Centers offer a limited number of complimentary knee arthritis treatment screenings every month. These screenings are a way for knee arthritis sufferers to get some of their questions answered and see if they are a candidate for one of the cutting-edge treatments offered at OsteoRelief Center. If you would like a complimentary screening, just call 800-227- KNEE and tell the scheduling expert who answers the phone, "I would like a complimentary knee arthritis screening."

The screenings fill up fast every month. If you do not call in time to get one this month, the expert will schedule you for next month.

This screening is no cost and there is no further obligation. The best thing about this screening for so many is being able to breathe a big sigh of relief because you finally have hope to relieve your pain and get your life back

Many of the treatments offered at OsteoRelief Institute are covered by many insurance plans and Medicare.

Subway's Jared Fogle target of child porn investigation: Report

Case. Attorney for Fogle says he is cooperating in the probe.

Authorities searched the Indiana home of Subway sandwich chain pitchman Jared Fogle on Tuesday, about two months after the executive director of his foundation was arrested on federal child pornography charges.

Fogle, well known from his appearances on Subway television commercials, was detained for a time outside his home in Zionsville, a suburb northwest of Indianapolis, as law enforcement agents removed electronics from the house, local news outlet WTHR reported.

Fogle became a Subway spokesman after losing a reported 245 pounds in part by eating regularly at the sandwich chain. Fogle made his first Subway commercial in 2000 and appeared in a new one last year, according to the company's website.

Fogle left his home in the upscale neighborhood around midday as the search continued, according to local media.

It was not clear whether Fogle, a father of two, is a target of what authorities have said is a joint investigation by local, state and federal law enforcement officials. Officials declined to comment about the activity at Fogle's home.

Two police cars were parked in front of the two-story white brick house and law enforcement officers could be seen going in and out of the building. A large white truck belonging to law enforcement was stationed in the driveway of Fogle's home.

The Associated Press tweeted: "Subway says it is suspending relationship with spokesman Jared Fogle amid investigation." REUTERS

1 The Justin Bieber bare butt Photoshop challenge

Justin Bieber has gifted the Internet with a photo of his gleaming white bum, and the Internet is not one to look a gift butt in the mouth. Truly, a magnificent sight, captioned with the simple, imploring, "Look." What an artist.

But the Internet did more than just look. No, the snarky digital collective heard the challenge thrown down by Canada's reigning pop imp and answered him in rare form with some truly amazing Photoshop magic, some satirical, some surreal. If Kim Kardashian's bare ass broke the Internet, it's Justin Bieber's that put it back together again.

And sometimes it's Bieber's fellow pop stars who have the best responses to these things, as Miley Cyrus proved (right). Damn, girl. Dat booty.

2 Channing Tatum 'did a lot of bad things' as a stripper

TELL US EVERYTHING.

If Channing Tatum wants to continue to cash in on his days as a desperate male stripper for lucrative "Magic Mike" movies — and why wouldn't he? — then he's going to have to keep fielding questions about his days on the pole. "It was one complete year of down-the-rabbit-hole crazy. I am glad I moved on. It definitely has some seedy, darker sides," he tells the Daily Telegraph. "I did a lot of bad things for one-dollar bills." Is he teasing more material for the third — and inevitably 3-D-ized – "Magic Mike" installment? Because sure! Also of note in the world of Tatum wisdom: Being a stripper and being in a relationship is tricky. "Just think about it. You have your wife or your girlfriend, and then you go and basically run your junk all over women as a job," he explains. "That can get confusing."

3 Katy Perry and John Mayer, total deadheads

Let's check in on the romantic goings-on of on-again, off-again Katy Perry and John Mayer, shall we? After spending the spring popping up on dates for dinner in L.A. and general merriment at Disney Land, Perry and Mayer were most recently spotted soaking in the farewell concert for the Grateful Dead in Chicago. Photos submitted to TMZ show the cozy couple all wrapped up in each other during the show, though in one shot Perry is hugging Mayer from behind, making it very difficult for her to see the stage. But hey, maybe he's just more into the Dead than she is.

NEW

Interview. Former child star Haley Joel Osment is taking a more comedic turn in the jazz singer/murder mystery spoof "The Spoils Before Dying."

He sees jazz singers

We were introduced last year to the fictional oeuvre of Eric Jonrosh, a slightly delusional filmmaker (played by Will Ferrell) who's releasing his earlier opuses to a modern audience now that the world is more accepting. The first installation was "The Spoils of Babylon," starring Tobey Maguire and Kristen Wiig; the new one is "The Spoils Before Dying," starring Michael Kenneth Williams as Rock Banyon, a jazz musician falsely accused of killing his lover. Returning for the second season is Haley Joel Osment (and a bunch of former "SNL" stars, including Wiig), this time playing Rock's producer, a slightly oblivious Brit named Alistair St. Barnaby. Part spoof, part Ed Wood-esque effort to make a film with no money and a cockeyed artistic vision, the series is hard to pin down, so we asked Osment to clear things up for us.

GETTY IMAGES

How would you describe the genre of "Spoils Before Dying"?
I have been saying epic psychedelic jazz murder mystery.

And what's Alistair's deal?
Alistair is sort of single-minded in pursuit of one album he wants Rock to record, which is a big cheesy strings album that will help Rock cross over. He has a lot of artistic integrity with his hard bop albums and his free jazz and everything, and Alistair wants him to soften up his style and release an album that will be really commercially successful. And he does that no matter what's happening with Rock.

KATRINA MARCINOWSKI, IFC

When they're on the run from this murder charge, he's still trying to get Rock to stop into the studio to record it.

He puts up with a lot from Rock, who isn't too interested in the album.
Alistair knows he's hitched his wagon to the right star, so he's willing to put up with that sort of behavior. As I think a lot of those characters do. When you're working with an artistic genius, you have to put up with all of their trouble.

What's it like working with so many "Saturday Night Live" stars?
I think it's just one of those things where they're so good at what they do, they make everyone around them better. Being in a scene with Tim Meadows or Kristen Wiig — unfortunately I didn't have any scenes with Will or with Kate McKinnon this season — but you just learn a lot from how loose they are on set and how much fun they're having with what they're doing.

Will Alistair ever get his strings album?
People will have to tune in to find out.

So, there's really two mysteries: who committed the murder, and whether Alistair will get the jazz strings album he dreams of.
They're neck and neck in terms of importance.

Faking it

Winter in Malibu

With so many funny people on set, is it hard not to break and laugh while you're filming?
We were pretty good. And also there's so many moving parts in this, because they're using really specific old-school filmmaking styles. Sometimes that means really low-rent effects on purpose. Like, we had this scene at a snowy cabin in the woods that we were shooting on a 100-degree day in Malibu and they were blowing fake snow, which is actually like hot cotton balls, at us in this cabin. There's so much going on that maintaining focus is really important.

If you're over the age of 60, you're at risk for having or developing Peripheral Arterial Disease (PAD), which if left untreated can lead to severe pain, numbness, impotence, non-healing sores...even amputation. And if you're a smoker, have diabetes or have had a heart attack or stroke your risks are increased significantly.
The good news is that PAD can be easily treated with our fast, minimally invasive technique.

Do You Have PAD?

- Pain, achiness, fatigue or burning in the muscles of your feet, calves or thighs, especially during walking or exercise
- Increased pain when walking uphill, walking faster or for longer distances
- Pain subsides after several minutes of rest
- Pain level increasing with less exercise
- Numbness in legs and feet while at rest
- Paleness or discoloration
- Legs are cool to the touch
- Severe constant pain even at rest, presence of non-healing ulcers and risk of losing affected leg

Aries You don't need to explain your every move. Do whatever it takes to ensure your future security. Do what's right for you.

Taurus By making minor repairs and adjustments to your residence, you will increase the value of your home and add to your comfort.

Gemini Friendships will develop through involvement in a cause. If you do your best to help others, a leadership position will become available.

Cancer The risk to your health is not worth the added responsibility. An interesting proposal will give you additional free time.

Leo You will not have a problem recruiting partners for your next big project. Physical activity will help to relieve tension.

Virgo No one is placing pressure on you; it's you who is fretting about what others think and do. Put your life in perspective and stop worrying.

Libra You'll have trouble communicating today. This would be a good time to catch up on some reading or begin work on a project.

Scorpio Be good to yourself. Enjoy a favorite meal, call up an old friend and keep your projects to a minimum until you regain your energy.

Sagittarius You need to take part in something new. Gather friends and neighbors and organize a day of competitions that will motivate everyone.

Capricorn Your schedule will be turned upside down. Remain calm. Becoming emotional will only make matters worse.

Aquarius A trip with friends will provide inspiration for a new career direction. You will be surprised at the opportunities that are available.

Pisces Make it a habit when you arrive home to do something to take your thoughts off your job.

Quick fixes for the renovation rookie

HGTV's David Bromstad says paint and pillows will spruce up your space.

RACHEL KASHDAN
letters@metro.us

Beams and columns add an architectural element and are easy to do, says Bromstad. ISTOCK

David Bromstad
GETTY IMAGES

David Bromstad, one of the hosts of HGTV's new renovation competition series "Beach Flip" — where four amateur design teams compete for a $50,000 prize by revamping rundown beachfront properties — just loves a good home makeover. But what's his favorite part?

"The transformation — that's the most fun," he says. "I'm a designer at heart, and going in there and seeing a really crappy place and then starting to have a vision and seeing it come through is kind of magic."

Need a tiny bit of that transformative design magic for your own home projects? Bromstad offers four simple decor and renovation tips.

Shhh — don't tell the landlord

Between tenant rules and labor, painting can be a hassle. So why take the plunge?

"Because paint is the most inexpensive and most fabulous thing to do to really change the look of your entire space," insists Bromstad. "It's the most work, but it's totally worth it."

You can never have too many pillows

To transform your home without doing a total overhaul, consider Bromstad's favorite trick: swapping out decorative pillows.

"I am a pillow fanatic. I'm not kidding, I probably have, like, 400 pillows in storage," confesses the designer.

And unlike painting, it's a whole lot less work.

"For me it's all about changing the accessories. That is the easiest and most fun way to change your apartment. I do it once a week," says Bromstad.

"You can go into Target and grab a ton of them to figure out what works and then just take the others back. The great thing is that everyone has return policies."

Add visual interest

If you're looking to drastically change the look of a room, consider adding faux ceiling beams for a rustic touch.

"I love, love, love creating architecture," says Bromstad.

His favorite idea from "Beach Flip" was when one of the contestants put up beams in their space.

"[Putting] beams on the ceiling costs almost nothing, and it's so easy to do. It doesn't have to be perfect to make great impact, and it doesn't have to be great quality wood, either," Bromstad says.

Stop with the 'matchy-matchy'

While it's important for the elements in a room to complement one another, incorporating furniture pieces that completely match each other is an outdated concept.

"The whole matchy-matchy thing, nuh-uh, not working for me," says Bromstad. "Even matching the coffee table and side table in your living room — give me a break. It just makes it look like you're in a department store."

Instead, to create a look that's both eclectic and cohesive, the designer says to look for distinctive pieces that have an element in common, like colors that complement each other or similar fabric textures.

Katie Holmes renting Chelsea pad for $25K a month

The 3-bedroom, 2,400-square-foot apartment features a private deck.

Katie Holmes GETTY IMAGES

Katie Holmes is back in Chelsea, where she's renting a 2,400-square-foot apartment for $25,000 per month.

The actress, who moved into a $12,500 per month rental at the Chelsea Mercantile with daughter Suri after filing for divorce from Tom Cruise in 2012, is taking a three-bedroom, two-bathroom unit at 201 W. 17th St.

The apartment features views of the Empire State Building and World Trade Center, a wood-burning fireplace and a private deck with a landscaped terrace and outdoor shower, according to the New York Post.

Brandon Trentham and Bernard Marshall of Town Residential had the listing. Holmes, who bought a six-bedroom home in California for $3.79 million last year, also placed a bid last summer on a four-bedroom, 3,100-square-foot Upper West Side apartment asking $6.75 million.

Team investing could be a new fantasy trend

Fantasy sports. A new app allows you to invest in your favorite sports teams.

Many sports fans dream of being able to have a stake in their favorite team. There's now an app that can help fans realize that dream.

AllSportsMarket is an app that enables you to invest in any team in the four major North American sports (baseball, football, basketball and hockey).

It's remarkably similar to investing in the stock market at the NYSE, and is an intriguing alternative to gambling on individual games and the various daily fantasy sports sites that have popped up recently.

Former NHL All-Star Bernie Nicholls has been supporting the concept of AllSportsMarket for a while now, but the idea has only recently been introduced in the mobile market.

"I was introduced to the idea by my cousin [Jason Henry] and we launched on the Internet about 10 years ago," Nicholls told Metro. "In July of 2014 we launched it on the app store. Now it's on every device."

The process is a simple one. Simply create an account, log in and accept the 2,500 free points the app gives you, then find a team you want to invest in and determine how much you want to invest. Investments can be sold at any time.

"It's a great feeling to own a piece of your own team," said Nicholls. "Some people will just buy into their own team and hold on to it forever."

Jumping on a team's bandwagon is also an option.

"You could look at a team's schedule and say, 'I think this team is going to win its next 10 games' and invest in it," said Nicholls. "It's a good alternative to gambling [on each game], because if your team loses, it's OK — you don't lose everything."

The prices of teams fluctuate based on how they are bought and sold on the market, and investors can make money by winning "dividends" when their team beats another team. AllSportsMarket will offer a chance to make real money soon, but at the moment it is still in a "trial stage."

"We're hoping to offer a real money market [this month]," said Nicholls. "But for now we're taking it slow so that people will understand it first. We're getting a lot of great feedback.

"You can invest in gold and silver, but you can't watch it perform," Nicholls said.

ROBERT CRISCOLA
@ItsGood2BeKing
sports@metro.us

How is it legal?

Former NHL All-Star and New York Ranger Bernie Nicholls explains why AllSportsMarket is legal:

- "This is legal due to the fact we have created a sports derivative that follows the same principals as weather derivatives or oil derivatives. The performance-based sports derivative is an investment. It's not gambling."

MLB Power Rankings | by Ryan Hannable

No. 1

Cardinals (54-28)

The Cardinals keep rolling, having won three straight games to now lead the NL Central by six. It isn't just Michael Wacha picking up the slack for the injured Adam Wainwright as Carlos Martinez has nine wins.

No. 2

Astros (49-36)

The Astros continue to be led by Dallas Keuchel and his 2.14 ERA, the second-best mark in the AL. He could potentially start in the All-Star Game.

No. 3

Pirates (48-34)

The Pirates are on a roll, having won eight of their last 10, but they're still trailing in the division. Gerrit Cole's 12 wins remain the most in MLB.

No. 4

Dodgers (47-37)

In what was once a tight race in the NL West, the Dodgers have rattled off six wins in their last 10 to open up a five-game lead.

No. 5

Royals (46-33)

The Royals have an MLB-high six All-Star representatives. Though they've gone 5-5 in their last 10 they still lead the AL Central by four games.

No. 6

Nationals (46-37)

Led by Max Scherzer's nine wins and 1.82 ERA, the Nats lead the NL East by 3.5 games. Their plus-38 run differential is the only positive mark in the NL.

No. 7

Yankees (44-38)

Even though the Yankees are just 5-5 over their last 10 games, they are back on top of the division. Mark Teixeira's 59 RBIs rank first in the AL.

No. 8

Cubs (44-37)

The Cubs have been leapfrogged by the Pirates in the division and trail the Cards by 9.5 games. A wild-card berth should be the goal.

No. 9

Angels (44-38)

Winners of three straight and eight of 10, the Angels are making a run. Albert Pujols has 25 homers.

No. 10

Twins (34-29)

The Twins continue to play consistent ball and now trail the Royals by four games. But their 18-24 road record is something that needs to improve.

No. 11

Orioles (43-40)

The O's will send third baseman Manny Machado, closer Zach Britton, center fielder Adam Jones and set-up man Darren O'Day to the All-Star Game.

No. 12

Rays (43-41)

The Rays have lost eight of 10, but Chris Archer and reliever Brad Boxberger will head to the All-Star Game in Cincy.

Mets

The Mets check in at No. 13 in this week's power rankings with a record of 43-41. They've won six of their last 10 and now trail the Nats by 3.5 games in the NL East. Jacob deGrom will rep the Mets in Cincy.

Sleep Study Research Volunteers

We are looking for volunteers (60-80 years old) for a study of the effects of spending 1 hour less in bed or following a fixed bedtime and wake time schedule at home.

- Volunteers will be asked to fill out questionnaires and have physical exams, including blood draws.
- Volunteers will receive compensation for completing the study.
